Summer Internship with Sisley / Benetton

I completed a six week internship with Sisley / Benetton in June 2012. I researched Fashion trends .I put together ensembles for Sisley Summer 2013 Fashion show. I also prepared photomaster and color cards for them.

Some works from the Sisley Summer 2013 Fashion Show are below :

This yellow colored bright print t-shirt I paired with these green trousers to give the attire a very casual summer day look.

For the final look I just added a pair of sunglasses with a pair of loafers to add to the casualness of the attire.

This suit is definitely a great pick for a formal or a semi formal occasion, great for a day party too. Light fabric great for the summers as well. I thought of adding this light pink shirt inside again to add to the summer theme.

For the final look I changed the color of the shirt I gave a white shirt and a tie to give it the perfect formal look along with black shoes and a black men's hand bag to give it the perfect James Bond look with panache ;)

I created this summer look by layering garments and colors, keeping in mind the theme spring/summer and a casual day look. I added a pair of fuchsia pink shorts for the bottom and a yellow tank with an ill-fitted teal top over it. Keeping it simple at the same time fun, catering to the likes of the youth.

For the final look I just added a bright colored bag with a pop of bright colors and tan wedges.

This red jumpsuit is a head turner the color is hot and is definitely an amazing option for a night out.

For the final look I added a pair of tan wedges and patent handbag to go with the whole look.

For an official meeting or a dinner date this is 'the perfect look'. It's uber classy with the jacquard trousers and emerald green easy flowing silhouette top.

For the final look I added a pair of black peep toes, a black hand bag and a black belt all going to enhance the look of the overall attire.
